ABLAZA

Sariel G.G. Ablaza M.D. passed away after a long illness at home in Moorestown, New Jersey on January 14, 2019. He was born in Hagonoy, Bulacan, Philippines to Paciencia Gutierrez and Cipriano Ablaza. Sariel graduated from the University of the Philippines, College of Medicine in 1951, and completed his Thoracic Surgery residency at Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital in Philadelphia, and Maryland General Hospital in Baltimore. He specialized in Cardiac and Thoracic Surgery and had a long and distinguished career practicing in Philadelphia and New Jersey. Sariel was Chairman of Cardiopulmonary Surgery at Albert Einstein Medical Center, Northern Division from 1972-1987 and Clinical Professor at Medical College of Pennsylvania, where he also served as Chief of Thoracic and Cardiovascular Surgery. He wrote and published over 40 scientific articles on surgery and held a patent for the surgical device for treatment of dissecting aneurysms. He retired from private practice in 1996. Sariel touched many lives as a teacher, leader, physician and friend. His hobbies and interests included gardening, poetry, raising orchids and cooking Filipino food for his family and friends. Sariel is survived by his wife, Andie (Braunstein), and their daughter Alixandra. He is also survived by his children from a prior marriage, David (Alyssa), Brian, Sheri Locarno (Mario) and Valerie, and by grandchildren Caitlin Ablaza, Brendan Locarno, Marco Locarno and Luke, Thomas, Mary, DJ and Nicky Ablaza. He was preceded in death by his sisters Elsie Ablaza, Leiwayway Garcia and brother Ismael Ablaza. His surviving siblings Nora DeLeon, Lulu Samin and Lydia Lu share in our loss. A special thanks to his loving caregiver and friend, Maria LaTouche-Davis. Sariel leaves behind a large and loving extended family here and in the Philippines. His family and friends will miss his generosity, sensitivity and intelligence. Ashes will be distributed to his family. In lieu of flowers, contributions can be made to: UPMASA (Ablaza Professorial Chair), C/O Dr. Chelle Jose, 815 Marlowe Road, Cherry Hill, NJ 08003.

AXE

Beverly Constance (Solomon) Axe, 94, passed away peacefully on October 26, 2018 in Warminster, PA. She donated her body to University of PA Medical School. Raised in Far Rockaway, NY, Beverly moved to Philadelphia in 1950 upon marrying Norman Axe, her husband of 60 years and later moved with her family to Cheltenham. An active member of Congregation KI in Elkins Park, Beverly was dedicated to imparting her love of Judaism to her family. Beverly enthusiastically enjoyed a variety of activities throughout her life. She was an avid reader and founding member of a book group which lasted more than 45 years. A talented and prolific knitter, she enjoyed teaching others to knit. Beverly loved to swim, play bridge, take walks, go to plays and frequent thrift stores, often generously gifting her finds to family and friends. Beverly is survived by her three children, Susan, Francesca, and Martin, her sons-in-law, Peter and Alex and her grandchildren, Johanna, Stephanie, Gabe and Bradley. A memorial service will be held in the spring.

DEATH NOTICES

INGERMAN

Corinne Ingerman passed away on January 5, 2019. She was born in Philadelphia in 1930, in the throes of the Great Depression, to Albert and Dora Schwait. She attended Olney High School in Philadelphia, Pa., and met her future husband, Albert Ingerman, shortly after her graduation in 1948. They married in May, 1949, when Corinne was 19. Corinne and Albie enjoyed 61 happy years together. They had two children, Michele and Mark. Corinne was a homemaker, devoted to her husband and children. She always regretted that her family could not afford to send her to college, so she encouraged her children to seek higher education. Her daughter became a lawyer and her son, a doctor. What Jewish mother could ask for more? Corinne was a lifelong swimmer and played tennis competitively at Idle Hour Tennis Club in Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania. She also was a devoted bridge player her entire life, constantly honing her skills with bridge lessons and Charles Goren at her side. After moving to Florida in the mid 1970's, Corinne continued playing tennis and bridge, finding new partners and expanding her social circle. But it was in Florida, specifically, Palm Beach County, where her career as an artist blossomed. Art was her true passion. She focused seriously on her career as an artist after her children left the nest. She took classes at Philadelphia College of Art and volunteered at Elwyn Institute, where she taught art to disabled children. She built an art studio onto her home and painted prolifically. She displayed her paintings all over her home, sold many commercially and exhibited her works at various galleries around Palm Beach County. She won numerous prizes for her art. In addition, Corinne was a founding member of the Wellington Art Society. She played an active role in the Society until she returned to Philadelphia in 2016. She spearheaded many projects, including a large-scale undertaking in which local artists decorated the children's wing of a local hospital. After her children were grown, Corinne and her husband actively traveled throughout the United States and abroad. Despite her active schedule, Corinne always made time for annual trips to the Pacific Northwest and to Philadelphia to see her children and grandchildren. Corinne was known as "Nan" to six grandchildren and despite the geographical distance between them, always maintained a very close relationship with all six grandchildren. In recent years, Corinne welcomed seven great-grandchildren into the family. Corinne took her Jewish faith seriously. Until her move back to Philadelphia, she was an active member of Temple Beth Torah in Wellington, where she served on the Board of Directors for many years. She was a fixture at Friday night services. Corinne is survived by her brother, Allen Schwait, daughter, Michele Grable (husband Bill) and her son, Mark Ingerman (wife, Becky), her grandchildren, Katherine Walter (Michael), Andrew Hallman (Kim), Julia Hallman (Aaron Rubin), Lindsey James (Drew), Sarah Ingerman (Ty Thiele) and Kyle Ingerman. There was a private interment at Eternal Light Memorial Gardens, Boynton Beach, Fla. A memorial service for Corinne will be held at Temple Beth Torah sometime in late winter. PACHTER

Henry, December 13, 2018, of Havertown, PA. Beloved husband of the late Berta (nee Becker), loving father of George (Joanne), Ze'ev (Rahel), and Shirley (the late Barry) Lubitz; cherished grandfather of Diana (Nick), Shelley (Geoff), Jill (Jimmy), Tommy, Andrea and Carly, and great grandfather of Elliott, Derek, Valerie and Zachary. Graveside Services were held December 14th at Montefiore. Contributions in his memory may be made to Magen David Adom www.afmda.org. Born in Vienna, Austria, Henry lived his childhood in the thriving Jewish community of Teplice (Teplitz), Bohemia, Czech Republic until the first days of the Nazi occupation in 1938. At the age of 14 Henry left Teplice for Israel with the Kindertransport rescue efforts of the Sochnut /Jewish Agency, never to see his family again. As soon as the British Mandate accepted Jewish enlistments Henry joined the British Army, serving 5 years, and participating in the famous Battle of El Alamein in the Egyptian desert where he worked in the optical instruments shop, maintaining the optical systems within tanks which were used against the anticipated German advance. Henry had also served in the Haganah and later worked as a civilian for the IDF until he found a position with National Cash Register, as a bookkeeping machine mechanic. In January 1958 Henry, his wife Berta, their 2 young sons, George & Ze'ev and their dog Teddy came to Philadelphia, where his 3rd child, Shirley was born 3 months later. After several jobs in the city Henry established Pachter Office Machine Co., and soon opened a retail typewriter store at 704 Market Street (same spot where Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration Of Independence). Later he created the House Of Typewriters, on Township Line in Upper Darby. He was one of the last men standing in the typewriter industry upon retiring in 1988. In retirement, Henry pursued his passion studying porcelain arts, specializing in Meissen collection and restoration. He became an official ASA appraiser for museums, antique dealers and collectors nationwide. He made many trips to European countries as an active member of the Keramos Society, and was perhaps one of the few U.S. citizens ever to be invited to visit the old Meissen factory in communist East Germany in the 1980s, as he was researching their archives for the origin of the art. In recognition of his achievements, the Keramos Society presented Henry Pachter with an honorary doctoral degree. Meissen porcelain was popular with European royalty and the affluent in the 18th & 19th century and is still highly collectible today. Henry and Berta enjoyed their winter home in Tarpon Springs, Florida until Berta's passing in 2011. Henry was also a lifelong lover of the opera and classical music, and a talented violinist and accordion player, where in Florida he was an active musician in a small orchestra. Henry passed at 95 but his memory and storytelling charms will last forever.

SCHWARTZ

Alan Schwartz, a prominent Philadelphia trial attorney and a founding partner of the law firm, Anapol, Schwartz, Weiss & Schwartz (now known as Anapol Weiss), passed away on November 13, 2018 at the age of 80 after a long battle with multiple myeloma. Alan led a life of accomplishment and contribution marked by an unrelenting commitment to law and equal access to justice for victims of medical malpractice and personal injuries. Alan was born in West Philadelphia on May 5, 1938 to Goodman and Nettie (Ingberman) Schwartz. He was the middle son, sandwiched between older brother Ronald and younger brother Stephen. Despite a difficult childhood and adolescence burdened by financial hardship, Alan remained committed to achieving his long-term goals. After graduating from Overbrook High School, Alan served in the United States Air Force and the Pennsylvania Air National Guard Reserve while concurrently earning his undergraduate and law degrees from Temple University (B.S., 1960; LL.B., 1963). Alan's passion for the law was an integral part of his identity. He was widely respected throughout the Philadelphia-area legal community as a tenacious, intimidating competitor with a wry sense of humor. In the courtroom, he displayed thorough preparation, remarkable attention to detail, and an exceptional ability to convey complex, technical information to juries and judges in a persuasive, easily understandable manner. Over his long and distinguished legal career, Alan represented many families who suffered morbid and mortal injuries due to personal and medical negligence. Alan was a dynamic speaker and consummate storyteller who zealously and passionately advocated for his clients, often winning multi-million- dollar jury verdicts on their behalf. Alan enthusiastically engaged in cutting edge, precedent-setting litigation. He successfully argued before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court and changed the state law to allow parents to recover for the death of their viable fetus. Alan was one of the first attorneys certified by the National Board of Trial Advocacy and served in numerous leadership roles for multiple legal organizations, including the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. In addition to serving as Adjunct Professor for the Masters in Trial Advocacy Degree Program at Temple University School of Law, Alan lectured at numerous academic and professional institutions, including Thomas Jefferson Medical College, Widener University School of Law, the Pennsylvania Bar Institute, the Pennsylvania Trial Lawyers Association and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. Alan was a passionate trial attorney, but he prioritized his family above all else. After marrying at a young age, he became the father of three children and eventually, five grandchildren. In his private life outside of the courtroom, Alan revealed his true nature: a quirky, loving, "softy." His children recall his fascination with useless gadgets he'd impulsively purchase from catalogues, his penchant for starting embarrassing conversations at the dinner table, and his willingness to cede the upper hand when negotiating their punishments for adolescent infractions. While Alan enjoyed many interests and activities—such as travel, skiing, golf, sports cars, and desserts—spending time with his family was his greatest joy. Alan took his family on many vacations and chose vacation homes with his family's interest in mind, incentivizing their joyful participation. "Your children are going to think you are a rockstar from when they are born until they turn about 14 or 15 years old. Then other distractions—their friends, love interests, school, activities, careers, children—take priority. While they may still love you, the time they spend with you becomes less and less. But no matter what it costs, no matter how much work you might have, it's important to spend time with your family and create memories." Alan's goal was to create memories, with the understanding that "long after you're gone, those memories endure forever." Throughout his eventful life, Alan never lost his perspective or took himself too seriously. He was quick-witted and found humor in everything, even the dark moments. He lived life to the fullest and was a pillar of wisdom, support, and advice for his entire extended family. His indomitable spirit never wavered as he fought multiple myeloma gallantly over the past several years with the love and support of his family and friends. Alan is survived by his wife, Elaine Schwartz; his three children, Carrie (Steven) Leskowitz, Lisa Schwartz, and Todd (Susan) Schwartz; grandchildren Jason (Kira) and Dylan Bell, and Zachary, Gabrielle and Emerson Schwartz; brothers Ronald (Sandra) Schwartz and Stephen (Renée) Schwartz; and numerous nieces and nephews. Alan is also survived by his former wife and the mother of his children, Jeanette Schwartz. The Schwartz Family requests that contributions be made in lieu of flowers to the International Myeloma Foundation, 12650 Riverside Drive, Suite 206, North Hollywood, California, 91607 or donate online at www.myeloma.org.

DEATH NOTICES
